Participation

About

This event was aimed at young people in year 5 who need to improve communication & team work skills, have become disengaged with sport/physical activity and may also have low physical literacy skills.

The day was based around team building activities and orienteering skills.

I brought this young person as she does not engage well in teams and has very low self-esteem. She also does not frequently leave her comfort zone and as a result can show challenging behaviours when things do not go her way.

During OAA she showed a willingness to get muddy (something she hates), encouraged her team and showed excellent communication with a partner during the blind fold challenge. She came away so happy about what she had achieved, and this then made her more willing to try new things throughout the rest of the week.

[It was] very beneficial – thank you so much

We brought all of our year 6's as they have struggled to bond as a group and have had some issues friendship in both male and female groups.

In particular, one lower achieving child really shone when we asked her to lead one of the challenges. She will rarely speak out in class and share ideas. Although she did want her friend to help her, she ended up speaking mostly herself and the whole group listened intently.

I really think the trip has helped the children to see each other differently and hopefully in a more supportive way. It was lovely to watch their team work.

Participation

New for 2022/23

About

This event was aimed at young people to develop confidence, communication and teamwork skills. They may also have become disengaged with PE and physical activity.

The event was aimed at young people in years 7/8/9 (KS3).

In numbers

[We brought this young person because of their] low confidence, [they are a] quiet individual, very reserved in physical activity but quietly able.

The event has given me a great point of reference when working with them as an example of their potential or ability and a unique opportunity for praise. [I am] able to use them as an example to the group to bring them into group and class discussions referring to the skills and attributes they demonstrated on the day.

The student has a very clear confidence boost in PE and physical activity when the climbing was mentioned in lessons and plenary.

All students thoroughly enjoyed the day achieved success and took something valuable from the event.

All round it was an excellent opportunity.

Fairfield High School

[We brought this young person because] she is so quiet in PE lessons, and lacks confidence. She always hides at the back, has her head down and gets on with tasks asked of her with very little enthusiasm.

I remembered one of our conversations where I was trying to find out more about her and what she enjoys doing...and she mentioned that she had tried climbing once. I thought she was the ideal person to have a go, as she had never done anything off site before.

She interacted well with peers on the day. She gave everything a go, and was really determined to get the hang of the bouldering especially. She kept trying to get better each time.

I think she was so pleased with herself for having a go and achieving something that she hasn't necessarily done before. I spoke to her afterwards and she said she wanted to come back - she thought she might ask her parents.

More from schools

This young person was brought as they often demonstrate a potential in certain activities and sports, yet have no confidence and lack the social skills to be able to engage with others or to get involved. They often spend breaks and lunches alone or with one or two individuals in the student support room.

For this person, it was massive. The first activity we took part in was the challenges, one of which being the speed climb, and this person didn't want to do it, he then eventually did, and must've only gone, 50cm off the ground and burst in to tears, saying they couldn't do it and didn't want to do it in front of the others. As the day went on, you could see him becoming more engaged with the group and through the support of the group, cheering him on and making him feel a member of the team, he overcame those fears. After the break he climbed higher in the climbing session and then to cap it all off, in the bouldering session, reached the top of the final climb, to be greeted with hugs, fist pumps and high fives, once he touched back down. He was grinning ear to ear, that was the icing on the cake, you could see how much it meant to him!

Kingstone High School

Wigmore chose the 9 pupils based on discussions with form tutors and pastoral leads. We felt the group would benefit from the rock climbing festival to help build their confidence and get to know other pupils with similar interests in their year group.

The group we took came back to school and were extremely positive about their day. Most of the pupils involved has never taken part in rock climbing before so saw the opportunity as a real treat.

Values Festival

Participation

About

One of the biggest county festivals, the values festival is aimed at pupils that would not normally represent their school and take part in teams and fixtures.

5 different sports:

- Tennis (years 5-6)
- Sportshall Athletics (years 3-4)
- Tri-golf (years 5-6)
- Cricket (years 5-6)
- Girls Rugby (year 7)

Feedback

This event was a wet one! It was not practical to do monitoring and evaluation on the day, therefore we followed up with teachers after the event to get their feedback.

On the day conversations with schools were mostly positive:

Generally, even though weather disrupted things, the children were happy. You could see they were happy and enjoyed it. Some were not bothered by weather! There were lots of smiles.

Schools were happy that we went ahead with the day and were understanding of how difficult it would have been to make the decision to cancel when the weather is unpredictable.

Community Providers

The Schools Games has been a great way for community providers to engage with schools.

As a result of the Values Games, Burghill Golf Club have developed links with schools and have been into 6 schools in the summer term.

They have also put on a number of smaller Tri-golf events at the club.

Insight and Impact

As part of the event, we asked young people firstly how they felt about the event and then why they took part in physical activity.

13 children said they felt very happy after the event, 1 was ok and 1 was a bit unhappy.

This graph shows the reasons why young people liked taking part in activity:

School feedback

We chose one student (female) who lacks confidence during PE lessons, often will forget her PE kit to avoid taking part. We were keen for her to experience an event with other schools and she agreed she would give it a try.

She was very very proud of her medal and wore it to school for the rest of the week! She was witnessed by a member of staff last week playing football with a group of boys at playtime. This is huge for her.

More from schools

Just wanted to say thank you for inviting us to the inclusive football, my students absolutely loved it!

I chose this young person to attend the inclusive football because they have a very strong interest in watching and playing football. They choose to play football during social times of the day but lack confidence in the classroom and seem to really come out of their shell during physical activities as oppose to academic learning tasks such as writing and reading. This student has gained confidence to communicate with other peers whilst playing football and has gained more understanding of team work and working alongside his peers.

Attending this event has massively impacted his confidence. He is still talking about the event now and also went home to discuss this with his parents, which is not something he usually does. I have not seen much of a difference in his behaviours during school however, I think if this was a regular occurrence, his confidence and ability to communicate with more peers would flourish.

It is such a lovely opportunity for my students to meet other peers of different abilities that also attend SEN schools - any more opportunities for us to attend things like this again, please email me and we would love to come!

About

The Herefordshire Summer School Games Festival is the biggest event of the year, with over 1500 children attending. It is a celebration of physical activity and is therefore aimed at a wide range of young people. There are no longer any qualifying competitions for this event.

As well as 12 different sports to take part in, the School Games arena provides an opportunity to welcome community organisations for young people to experience a range of new sports and activities.

Pupil Feedback

There were a total of 143 pupils that gave feedback.

Male (50), female (81) and preferred not to say (12)

Feedback came from the following sports:

Multi-skills (31), Rugby (19), Rounders (19), Arena (18), Dodgeball (13), Football (11), Golf (8), Handball (6), inclusive athletics (4) and Cheerleading (2)

There was no feedback from Sportshall Athletics, Tennis or Lacrosse.

Why do you think you were invited to come to this event?

55% responded that they thought they had been invited to encourage them to try a new activity.

13% and 11% responded that they were invited because they are good at this sport and that they are good at sport generally

8% thought it was as a reward for effort/achievement in school.

The other options had 5 or less responses.

There were a couple of pupils that referenced being overweight as a reason for coming to the event in the comments.

Make a choice of your own game as a team

I think it would be easier to know where the events are happening if there was signs

No I think it is really fun

The toilets and a place to refill your bottle

Less waiting for things, different types of sports

Make it start earlier

Nothing

Nothing should be changed. It's amazing how it is

Have more dodgeballs *****

More activities

For it to be longer

No it was really good

No I think the event is amazing

More activities, maybe the assistants could be nicer

Afterwards I need a bouncy castle and ice cream

No, I loved it

Add football, more toilet cubicles, be funner, have a waterslide

The toilets could be cleaner and more inviting

Thank you very much - I had fun

More activities, invite more schools, invite more young leaders, invite people to do the gym, make dodgeball more fun

I think there should be more supervisors. And also better toilets

Water refill stations

More games

I think I wouldn't change anything and it was a great event. Thank you for organising this :)

Football, basketball

Afterwards they should have ice cream

The toilets are scary and there need to be more

You guys have done amazing. I don't think you can improve on anything

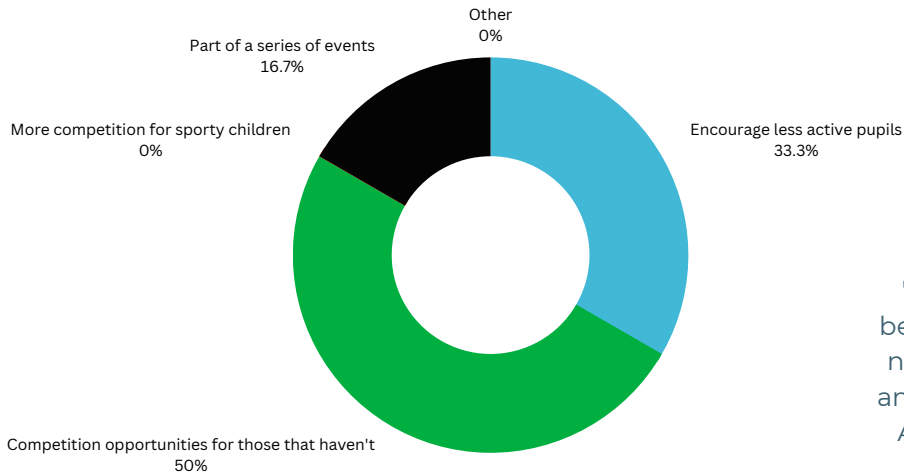

Maybe you could get a gift at the end if we did well

Any improvements or comments?

Miss the inflatables

No, it's a fantastic event. Thank you

More toilets, really good, had a lovely day

Always have a really good time

Strike and clash with other trips had an impact

Well run, feel really welcome, really well organised, loved the parade at the beginning, creates a great atmosphere

Well run, easy to follow instructions. Great support from all staff involved

Dodgeball organiser was very impatient as we arrived late, not very helpful. Kieram has organised an amazing event, long may it continue

Quicker ceremony walk

Deliverer Feedback

"Congratulations and well done on another exceptional event. The atmosphere was amazing considering there were so many people involved. You also nailed the weather this time!

From my observations there was almost a more positive atmosphere and attitude apparent. Perhaps the non-qualifier build up led to schools sending the 'correct' level of competitor. Probably not the case in all activities, just the sense that I felt.

The work that goes on behind the scenes in order for this scale of event to run smoothly is not generally considered, however, you and the extended team deserve a massive amount of praise. Congratulations upon a job well done!"

"It was a brilliant day and many thanks for inviting us to take part again."

"Best year yet! Well done all"

"Thank you for having us"

Feedback

Thanks so much for the amazing event last week too- Kids and staff absolutely loved the school games! So lovely to see so many of our reluctant participants so engaged!

Trinity Primary School

Thank you for yesterday the children all came back buzzing!

Kington Primary School

Thanks very much for the day – our children really enjoyed it and certainly increased their skills.

Ashfield Park Primary

I wanted to mention that yesterday went amazingly, and I would like to thank you for your organisation.

Hampton Dene Primary School

From the schools

Thank you for yesterday - a fabulous day.

The lacrosse was run really well - mixture of skills and matches with very confident leaders, and the football and rounders groups both had fun.

They all loved the activities at the end which worked as it didn't matter what time you finished your games - you could all meet up with your other teams and then leave when you were ready. The only point I would say was that the toilets by the astro were great as if you had one adult per group you could send them to the toilet and still see them but there was always a massive queue so it took ages for children to wait there.

2022-23 in Numbers

Over the year we have delivered 7 competitive events (28%) and 18 participation events (72%) as stand alones and as part of bigger festivals.

There are 18 schools that are in areas of deprivation (based on pupil location IDACI data) - 13 of these have attended a SG event (72%)

*see references and notes for a list of schools

There were 30 schools last year that did not attend a level 3 SG event. 12 of these schools have attended events this year

70 Individual schools	2265 Pupils	25 Adult volunteers
	189 BAME	4 Adult volunteers with SEND
1094 Male	408 SEND	247 Young volunteers
1171 Female	37 LAC	16 Young volunteers with SEND
3 Non binary	392 PP

*note: these may not be unique attendances - some children may have attended more than one event

Observations

Key Successes

- The targeted events that focused on building confidence and resilience were a really positive element that we added to the calendar this year, in particular the high school climbing and the OAA events.
- The amount and quality of the impact data that we collected from schools has been the best to date. The individual impact on specific pupils has really highlighted the benefits of the different events and showed that schools were bringing the right children to these events.
- The Climbing event for secondary schools won the National School Games Impact award in the 'those in need' category.
- Engagement with community organisations to support the delivery of events has been really positive, with new deliverers coming on board or expanding on what they have done previously.
- The School Games County Alliance (SGCA) continues to be very active. They check and challenge the programme, alongside providing valuable insight from education, community and NGB perspectives.

What challenges (if any) did you have and how did you overcome these?

- Schools dropping out at short notice - mainly due to transport and staff shortages. We took this to the SGCA and developed several ideas in an attempt to reduce this. One new addition has been to let schools know the cost of the event, either per team or per individual. We have never placed a value on the cost of the event for each school, so we are hoping that communicating this will increase accountability and commitment. We also developed a letter from the Chair of the SGCA which can be sent to schools who drop out at short notice. It gently reminds schools that it may result on them missing out on future opportunities.
- Weather for Values Games! We have already planned to move this event to later in the year to hopefully negate the chances of poor weather.
- Availability of facilities for large, multi sport events is a challenge in Herefordshire (esp. given the loss of one of the double court sports halls). To overcome this we have introduced more standalone, targeted events where we can use specific facilities e.g. climbing.

Observations

What did you change this year, based on last year's learnings and how successful was the change?

- We changed the focus of a number of different events e.g. rounders at summer games has been changed to a participation event. This is to make it more inclusive and ensure that all young people have the opportunity to take part and have a positive experience.
- We trialled a number of different sports and activities such as climbing for high schools, and cheerleading as an activity at summer games, which has been really positive!
- We have had an increased focus on the individual impact of School Games events on young people through case studies.
- Using the feedback from previous events, we have retained the arena and parade in the summer festival, simply removing the theme of the Commonwealth Games to make it universal.

What would you change next year if delivering again? (across the whole programme).

- Summer Games - less girls specific activities as some schools struggled with the numbers needed.
- As mentioned above, we will adjust a few of the dates to minimise the chances of poor weather.
- Alter the inclusive event based on school feedback to include more mainstream schools with SEND pupils.

How did you target specific groups?

- We set out clear and specific criteria for the young people that we wanted to engage for each event. This has been through:
  - conversations with teachers at level 2 (local) events and other events and activities
  - a clear timetable at the start of the year

Observations

- clear communications to schools when opening the booking for events e.g. 'The Values Festival is aimed at those who don't normally represent the school / that are less active / have low physical literacy skills. We are looking to inspire these young people through reward / recognition of the use of the school games values rather than the outcome of the score; while also celebrating each young person's personal best'.
- The impact that we have got back from the schools has reinforced that the right young people are being targeted for these events.

What impact did the event have on the pupils / school?

- Please refer to the Impact for each event outlined above

Challenges for next year

- Increased delivery costs for events – deliverers, facilities, suppliers are putting pressures on what we are able to do within the same historic budget.
- Ensuring that the calendar of events is spread out and we can fit in everything that we want to do!
